

Pierre-Jean BENGHOZI,
Chairman

Member of the Arcep's executive board, until 2019 and former student and professor at the École Polytechnique, he was Research Director at the CNRS, where he headed the research centre in economics and management until 2013 (UMR X – CNRS) and the "Innovation and Regulation of Digital Services" Chair founded, in partnership with Telecom ParisTech. He also holds a Doctorate in organizational Science from the University of Paris Dauphine and an Habilitation to Conduct Research (HDR) in Economics. He is one of the founders of the International Master of Reference (M2) on Network Industries and the Digital Economy (IREN).

Eric BROUSSEAU,
Professor of Economics and Management at the University Paris-Dauphine

A founding member of PSL Research University. He is a member of Dauphine Research in Management (DRM), a joint Research Center between Dauphine and the CNRS. He is the Scientific Director of the Chair "Governance and Regulation" and of the "Club des Régulateurs". He is also involved with the European University Institute in Florence.

His research focuses on economic governance and market regulation. He is interested in how the strategies of actors influence the organization and evolution of institutions shaping economic activities; hence detailed researches on how regulatory frameworks emerge, evolve and perform in various contemporary or historical, national or transnational contexts; as well as on the interactions between self- and public regulations. He has published nearly a hundred scientific papers and has edited about fifteen books and symposia. He has been involved in researches funded by the French Government, the European Commission, the US National Science Foundation, the UN, and the OECD.

Patrice DURAN,
Public Policy Evaluation

President of the INED, researcher, sociologist and teacher within prestigious institutions (ENA, Ponts et Chaussées, Sciences Po...), former chargé de mission in the PM office for territorial development issues, he published among others Genesis of Public Policy in Dictionary of Public Policy (PFNSP, 2014), and has worked on public policy evaluation.

Carine STAROPOLI,
Public Policy Evaluation

Carine Staropoli is Associate Professor at the Paris School of Economics and Senior Lecturer in Economics at the University of Paris I Panthéon-Sorbonne. She is Deputy Director of the Chair of Economics of Public-Private Partnerships at the IAE of Paris. She directs the MSc Economic Decision and Cost Benefit Analysis at ENPC ParisTech and PSE. Her research work focuses on the Economics of Regulation applied in particular to electricity markets and the Economics of Public-Private Contracts. Within the EPPP Chair of the IAE in Paris, she is conducting work on public procurement and the contractual practices of public actors in the energy field (electricity distribution concession contracts, energy performance contracts) and more recently on public-private relations in smart cities.

Frederic MARTY,
Law and legal economics

Researcher at the CNRS (Research Group in Law, Economics and Management, GREDEG) at the University Côte d'Azur, he is a member of the board of the French Association of Legal Economics. He works on competition law and the regulation of contract markets.

Thierry MAYER,
Geography and geographical economics

Professor of Economics at Sciences-Po Paris, Thierry Mayer is also a scientific advisor at CEPPI and a fellow at CEPR. His teaching focuses mainly on international trade, European economic integration, the new geographical economy. He is the author of the handbook "Economie Géographique" published by Economica in 2006.

Francis JUTAND,
Technologies

Former member of the National Digital Council, Scientific Director of the IMT, he has been, since the 1st June 2018, the deputy general Director of the IMT, a major public player in France and Europe in the field of higher education, research and innovation in engineering and digital technology, gathering the Grandes Écoles Mines and Telecom.

Christel COLIN,
Macro and microeconomics, econometrics

Former student of the École polytechnique and Ensaë, Director of Business Statistics at INSEE.

Joëlle TOLEDANO,
Macro and microeconomics, econometrics

Professor Emeritus in Economics, holding a Ph.D. in mathematics and in Economics, former member of the Arcep's executive board, she has held management positions in large private and public sector companies (La Poste) and has published numerous scientific papers in the fields of macroeconomics, industrial economics and the regulation of electronic communications and postal services.

Fatima BARROS,
Macro and microeconomics, econometrics

Fatima Barros holds a doctorate in economics from the University of Leuven. She has led a career at the university where she coordinated various research programs in the field of regulation and competition economics, she led the CATÓLICA-LISBON's Research Center for the Automotive Sector. Between 2012 and 2017, she chaired ANACOM on the Portuguese postal and electronic communications regulator. She currently teaches at the Lisbon School of Business & Economics. Her research focuses on competition policy, regulation and public-private contracting.

Jacques CRÉMER,
Macro and microeconomics, econometrics

An alumnus of École Polytechnique, Jacques Crémer obtained a Master's degree in Management and a PhD in Economics from MIT respectively in 1973 and 1978. He began his career in the United States, where he was a professor at the University of Pennsylvania and Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Since 1991, he has been a researcher at the Toulouse School of Economics where he was Director of the Doctoral School, Director of the Institute of Industrial Economics (IDEI) and Scientific Director and is currently Scientific Advisor to the Chair Jean-Jacques Laffont for the Digital Economy.

He has been Professor at École Polytechnique and Visiting Professor at Southampton University, Northwestern University (Evanston) and at the University of Maryland as well as Visiting Research Professor at the University of Hong Kong. He is a Fellow of the Econometrics Society and the European Economic Association and has served on their Boards. From February 2016 to December 2017, he was a member of the National Digital Council and from April 2018 to March 2019, he was a special advisor to the European Commissioner for Competition, Margrethe Vestager, working on competition policy in the digital age. Jacques Crémer's work has focused on planning theory, incentive theory and auctions, organization theory and corporate culture, the oil market, political federalism, the economics of the Internet and software, and market dynamics.

